A primary focus of efforts will be to provide students & staff with necessary supports to prepare them for the pandemic and beyond. One of those approaches will provide small-group and 1:1 instruction to students identified in need of extra supports. Students will have access to teachers to assist them in credit recovery, or completing assignments intended to prepare for next-year's studies. These interventions will be open to all students. Special needs students have already been identified to receive supports, with full accommodations. Shifts in instruction due to the loss of instructional time are necessary. Teachers will need support in making curricular and instructional decisions so that they can differentiate and provide the appropriate level of challenge to students. The District is investing implementation of MTSS as a way to be proactive in supporting all students with appropriate academic, behavioral, and SEL interventions.

Feedback collected from all of the above referenced sources was carefully considered and implemented where possible and practicable.
